

I am strongly opposed to relaxing the current media ownership rules. Conglomerating media outlets under fewer owners limits public access and is tantamount to limiting free speech. This is directly harmful to vibrant public debate of issues which is essential to our democracy.